Probing The Psalms

August 20-23, 2007 - 10:00 am-12:00 pm daily

This course led by Rev. Robert P. Conway, graduate of Grace Theological Seminary, will provide a panoramic overview of the book of Psalms, exploring the five divisions of the book, the various collections within the divisions, the twenty five classifications of psalms, and the nature of Hebrew poetry and how it is presented in various English translations of the Bible.

These songs of the heart are the most personal writings of all the Bible books as they focus on the relationship between God and the believer. The Psalms reflect spiritual trials and triumphs of the OT saints from the time of Moses through the Babylonian captivity, while reflecting life today. At times the Psalms set our hearts aflame with joy and at other times we experience the author's pain and hardships. They provide a glimpse into the heart of the faith of Israel. The Psalms can revolutionize our devotional life, family patterns, and the fellowship within the body of Christ. Opening the Psalms is to open the door into the worship of all believers around the globe and throughout history.

Course Objectives:

1. Gain a strategic grasp of the book of Psalms
2. Know how to study and apply the Psalms in the context of the Old Testament
3. Know the God of the Psalms in an experiential way
4. Apply spiritual lessons from the Psalms to daily life
5. Understand the prophecies of the first and second advents of Christ that are revealed in the Psalms
