Decoding Daniel

August 18-21, 2008
10:00am—12:00 noon

Decoding Daniel is a course that unfolds the book of Daniel, which shows history revealing prophecy and prophecy revealing history. The rise and fall of four empires, the coming of the Everlasting Kingdom, the coming of princes, the time of Israel's distress, and the end times are unveiled in dreams, visions, and interpretations. Hence, the book of Daniel is indispensable for understanding New Testament prophecy. Historically, this book has provided a solid basis for comfort in the midst of adversity—as undoubtedly, it will in the future. The prophet Daniel challenges God's people to faithfulness as he instills hope in the Most High's sovereign rule over the nations, kings, and people.

This course will be taught by Rev. Robert P. Conway, Graduate of Grace Theological Seminary, retired senior pastor in the Church of the United Brethren in Christ, and currently teacher of Old and New Testament at Jamaica Bible College and Community Institute, Mandeville, Jamaica W.I.

The textbook that will be used is Decoding Daniel by Bob Conway. The special price for the book is $5.00.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of this course, the students should be able to:

1. Connect the symbolism decoded by Daniel to historical, events and places.
2. Interpret and connect the symbolism that belongs to yet future events, people and places based on the other prophecies contained in the Scriptures.
3. Discover and interpret the “types” in the narrative sections of Daniel.
4. Make applications to their life from the numerous practical lessons and examples in the book of Daniel.
5. Understand the course of history that God has outlined.

These course objectives will be realized through interactive lectures. 1 CEU will be given upon completion.
